SAYS U.S. IS DIPLOMATIC NOVICE, MAY GET A SHOCK

Premier Hughes Asserts Some Surprises May Await Statesmen

SIGHT OF HEAVEN

Asserts Australia's Case Is Like One At Pearly Gates Without His Ticket

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Sept. 28.—Mr. Hughes, the Australian Prime Minister, received an enthusiastic welcome on his return from taking part in the Imperial Conference.

Interviewed with regard to the possibility of Australia being unofficially represented at the Washington Conference, he shook his head and expressed the opinion that it would be like a man presenting himself at the gates of Heaven without a ticket of admission.

He said Europe hoped that the Conference would be successful but it was too early to talk of what was likely to happen. America was very much a novice in international diplomacy. There might be many surprises awaiting American statesmen when the Conference met.

He declared that a British general election was inevitable soon, with the Irish question as a factor, because, he concluded, the people must be consulted whether the Government's offer were accepted or rejected.

GO IN TWO GROUPS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 26.—It is semi-officially stated that the members of the Chinese delegation to Washington will leave Peking in two parties, the first on the 29th instant and the second on October 1. It is further understood that the personnel of the delegation will shortly be published in a mandate and the names of its members gazetted.

URGES FACTIONS UNITE

Peking, Sept. 26.—The Chekiang Chamber of Commerce has telegraphed to the Government and various institutions throughout the country, drawing attention to the importance of the forthcoming Pacific Conference. It emphasises the desirability of joint action between the North and South in the nomination of the Chinese delegation to Washington.

70 READY TO DEPART

Peking, Sept. 29.—Seventy members of the delegation to the Washington conference, including Mr. M. T. Liang, will leave this evening for Shanghai whence they will embark on October 1. Dr. W. W. Yen will sail by the next mail steamer.

The number of chief delegates has been increased to five by the appointment of Mr. C. C. Wu, a mandate for which will be issued in October.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Sept. 28.—Senator Elihu Root will arrive in Washington next week, when the Disarmament Conference delegates are expected to begin their consultations.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 28.—The Temps understands that it is not yet absolutely certain that the British Prime Minister will not attend the Washington Conference. He will announce his decision shortly after his return to London but it is believed that he may go to Washington if the political situation in Britain permits and the date of the Conference is altered.

CHOICE OF PRINCE SURPRISE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 28.—The formal announcement by the Government of the delegation to Washington has naturally elicited widespread comment in today's press. While the nomination of Admiral Kato and Baron Shidehara has long been anticipated, the selection of Prince Tokugawa has been a complete surprise.

The appointment is generally approved as most suitable and is recognised as a triumph for the Premier in having secured as representative of the Empire a man with Prince Tokugawa's exalted social rank, and his lofty character and wide experience of Western men and manners.

Some quarters believe that the Prince's participation in the Conference foreshadows a more active interest in domestic politics after

NORMAN AND MUNCIE NOW IN BRITISH JAIL

Jail Breakers Are Moved; Vera Pohlman Hearing To Be Resumed Today

The two American prisoners who escaped from the American jail four weeks ago Wednesday and were recaptured by the International Settlement Police, working with the office of the United States Marshal, were yesterday afternoon transferred to the British jail on Amoy Road where they will be held until a date is set for their hearing in the United States Commissioner's Court.

Last night Amos E. Norman and Henry Muncie slept in cells with three doors, all of them locked, while armed guards patrolled the corridors. There are night and day duty details at the prison and an escape is regarded as almost an impossibility. Even the guards are locked in, it being necessary for the reliefs to unlock a heavy iron door to let them out. Since the building on Amoy Road was completed, no one has ever escaped from the jail.

Heavily shackled, Norman and Muncie were taken from the American jail yesterday afternoon, ushered to a police patrol and introduced to their new quarters.

It is expected that Norman will take the stand at the U. S. Commissioner's Court this afternoon when the preliminary hearing of Vera Pohlman is resumed. Mrs. Pohlman is charged with aiding Norman and Muncie to escape on the seventh of September.

Norman will probably repeat on the witness stand the statements made in his numerous letters to THE CHINA PRESS, written while he was in hiding at 134 Haskell Road and aiming to clear the Pohlman girl of the charge lodged against her. These letters led to his capture.

Commissioner F. J. Schuhl will open Court at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

LEAGUE NOT AT FAULT IF POWERS DON'T HELP RUSSIA

Sixth Committee Adopts The Report; But Lord Cecil Is Voted Down

NANSEN IS FIRM

Even Will Work Alone If Body Fails To Aid The Starving

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 28.—The Assembly of the League of Nations is debating on the committee report on the economic and financial situation of the world.

Mr. Balfour said that there was no more pressing problem than that of Austria. The Powers were striving to bring her back to normal conditions and he appealed to Austria's neighbors to assist in her reconstruction.

CHILI WOULD TALK

Geneva, Sept. 28.—After the Bolivian delegation had withdrawn, under reserve, the request for the revision of the Bolivia-Chile Treaty, the Chilean delegate said that his Government was prepared to enter into conversations with Bolivia with a view to settlement of grievances.

HOLD DOWN ARMIES

Geneva, Sept. 28.—The Third Committee of the League of Nations Assembly on the motion of Lord Robert Cecil has decided to recommend that those nations recently admitted to the League should not increase their military and naval expenditure for two years.

The Sixth Committee has adopted the report presented by M. Motta to the effect that, if the various governments fail to provide the necessary credits for the relief of the famine in Russia, the League shall not be answerable for the consequences.

M. Motta begged Lord Robert Cecil not to insist on the League approving Dr. Nansen's agreement with the Soviet. A hot debate ensued. Lord Robert Cecil moved an amendment urging that no reference should be made to the Brussels Conference which was also discussing famine relief, saying that the League should act on its own account.

Dr. Nansen declared that, even if the League were not willing to take responsibility for the relief, he would continue his efforts. He expressed the opinion that the League was better qualified to act than the Brussels Conference. Lord Robert Cecil's amendment was defeated.

URGE LEAGUE TO ACT

Geneva, Sept. 28.—The resolution adopted by the Sixth Committee of the League of Nations asked that the Military Commission should submit to the Council a draft treaty or some other definite plan for the reduction of armaments for presentation at the next Assembly, and in order to enable the Commission to accomplish its task the Council will be asked to reinforce the Commission.

The debate preceding the adoption of the resolution brought Britain's representative, Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, into opposition to Lord Robert Cecil (South Africa). Mr. Fisher declared that Great Britain was very anxious for reduction of armaments but could not produce general disarmament. He said that the world was too disturbed to permit of any definite plan and asked how it was possible to draft a proposal for disarmament without the United States and Russia. Mr. Fisher asked Lord Robert Cecil to withdraw the proposal till next year.

The French delegate, M. Reynald, supported Mr. Fisher, declaring that consideration of Lord Robert Cecil's resolution was at present impossible.

Signor Schanzer (Italy) tried to reconcile the heated speakers.

Lord Robert Cecil said that he might reach agreement with Signor Schanzer but not with Mr. Fisher and M. Reynald, who wanted nothing done. This was a matter vital to the League which would be judged thereon and not on the questions of Albania, Silesia and Armenia.

Eventually the joint resolution of Lord Robert Cecil and Signor Schanzer was carried by 22 votes to none, with many abstentions. The result was cheered and Lord Robert Cecil was congratulated by numbers of the delegates.

RELIEF IS URGENT NEED

Geneva, Sept. 28.—M. Notta (Switzerland) has submitted to the Assembly of the League of Nations a committee report dealing with the Russian famine

Father's Example My Great Life Stimulus, Says Son Of World's Richest Citizen

Speaks To Crowded Hall In Y.M.C.A. And Tells How John D. Rockefeller Sr. Investigated China Before He Started Ian For Medical College

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., yesterday visited the Shanghai Baptist College and Yangtszepoo Social Center, made a hurried trip to Woosung where he viewed the industrial possibilities with Chinese capitalists; tiffined at the Astor House, went sightseeing and attended a private tea in the afternoon and delivered a stirring address to over 800 Chinese at the Young Men's Christian Association last night.

In the morning Mr. Rockefeller, accompanied by Dr. William Henry Welch, Dr. Victor G. Heiser, Dr. C. W. Peter, C. C. Nieh, C. Y. Nie, Dr. S. M. Woo and J. T. Proctor of the American Baptist Mission motored to the Shanghai Baptist College where the party was met by President F. J. White and the members of the faculty.

The group were shown through the college buildings, Mr. Rockefeller evincing much interest in the new science building where pre-medical students are prepared for entrance to the Peking Union Medical College.

At Woosung Mr. Rockefeller and Chinese capitalists discussed the industrial possibilities of the port and made a trip about the city. The Hua Fong and Great Chang Cotton Mills were visited.

In the afternoon Dr. Welch delivered an address to the students of St. John's University on "Medicine as a Life Work," appealing to the student body to realise that public health problems of China must be solved by Chinese and not by foreigners.

After tea Dr. Welch and Mr. Heiser visited their old friend Dr. Robert C. Beebe, who is ill at St. John's.

Mr. Rockefeller, Dr. Welch and Dr. Heiser visited the Yangtszepoo Social Center while Mrs. Rockefeller and Miss Abby Rockefeller made an inspection of the Council on Health Education offices and exhibition rooms on Quinsan Road. Mrs. Rockefeller saw the three Y.W.C.A. centers of work here.

"Y" HALL IS CROWDED

Representatives from the Chinese Pastors' Association, the China Sunday School Union, the Shanghai Missionary Association, the Chinese Young Men's Christian Association, various local organisations representing student and industrial bodies, the Bureau of Foreign Affairs and the Navy Department as well as the Chinese City, crowded Martyrs' Memorial Hall at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. last night to hear an interesting and instructive address delivered by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Dr. C. T. Wang, Special Envoy to the Paris Peace Conference, presided. After paying a warm tribute to the achievements in the field of philanthropic endeavor on the part of John D. Rockefeller, Dr. Wang drew attention to the fact that some time ago he learned that the then total amount given away for philanthropic enterprises was $500,000,000 and that half of the funds needed for putting up the present home of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. was contributed by Mr. Rockefeller.

CHRISTIANITY'S INFLUENCE

Speaking of service, Dr. Wang said that in the old days there were only two ways for getting it, by paying for it with money or by exacting it with force but now on account of the advance of civilisation but particularly due to the uplifting influence of Christianity, service is now voluntarily given with a loving heart.

He referred to a statement made by an eminent French publicist to the effect that the American ideal of money-making is not that of keeping money but rather to show ability and efficiency in the effort of making money and then using money for the welfare of humanity.

"This ideal of American institutions," remarked Dr. Wang, "which I have been able to assure myself from personal investigations is, I am proud to say, personified in Mr. Rockefeller and his father."

By way of introductory remarks, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. said that he hoped that half of the over-generous words said by the Chairman might be true of himself but he felt that they would be entirely true in being applied to his father whom he had the honor of representing.

He said that although it was a novel exeprience for him to speak through an interpreter he felt that the chances were that he would pass for an orator when he had so capable an interpreter as Mr. David Yui and that this consideration made [illegible] lay all blame for infelicitous passages or omissions that may occur in the course of the address.

MR. ROCKEFELLER SPEAKS

Mr. Rockefeller said: "I am glad to have this opportunity of meeting so many of the Christian workers and Christian laymen of Shanghai, as well as the students and others who have come here tonight.

"My father and I have long been interested in Christian work in the Orient, not only the evangelical, educational and medical work conducted by the missionary societies, but also in the Sunday School and Bible Study work carried on by various organisations, and in what the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. are doing. We have great admiration for the devoted men who have left home, native land and Western civilisation to bring the message of peace and good will to their brother men in the Orient; for the native workers, loyal and true, on whose shoulders rests the dissemination among their people of the truths and ideals of the Christian religion; for the lay Christians, students and business men who, with the courage of their convictions, are upholding the hands of their leaders;

ARBUCKLE HELD ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

(Reuter's Service)

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—The case for the prosecution against "Fatty" Arbuckle closed at the police-court yesterday. The judge warned the District Attorney that he was risking danger of dismissal of the case by his failure to produce more proof, but rejected the request of the defense that the charge be dismissed.

Later.—The judge has decided that the evidence against Arbuckle does not warrant the charge of murder. Arbuckle will be tried for manslaughter.

The Judge has expressed the opinion that Arbuckle is not guilty of rape. The District Attorney has moved the release of Arbuckle on his own recognisances owing to the fact that he is already under $5,000 bail, fixed by the Superior Court on the first charge of manslaughter.

Rockefeller Travels Simply; Deplores Wild Spending

By Elsie McCormick

ONCE we went to see the United States mint. They showed us a room stacked high with gold bars and another one overflowing with freshly-minted coins. When we reached the outside entrance, we remembered that we had left our necklaces behind.

[illegible] them that we [illegible] to [illegible] getting it as we were sure we had left it in that room where the coins were, and it wouldn't take us more than three minutes. But the janitor brought it back to us, and we've kept on working ever since, as usual.

There isn't any point to this except that we met Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. yesterday morning. We are still working.

We went over to the Astor House at nine o'clock trying to decide whether to ask for a Home for Subnormal Newspaper Writers or Subsidies for Poor Shanghai Stenographers, which would leave them free to devote their time to keeping step with the rhythm which anthropologists say originated in the Congo. Everybody realises how hard it is to rise early in the morning and write notes about "Yours to hand and contents noted," after dancing all night.

WOULD HELP A LOT

Besides, work is so apt to make one late for the tea-dance. With the help of a little scholarship fund, hundreds of Shanghai young ladies could give up the frivolities of business and devote themselves to the more serious pursuits offered by the city.

The Home for Subnormal Newspaper Writers would also be a great asset, it being generally understood that any reporter saying "A good time was had by all" will be regarded as subnormal and eligible for entrance.

If Mr. Rockefeller had lived a few centuries ago, he would have entered to a fanfare of trumpets, with ladies in white wigs and silk skirts bowing on both sides of the door. If there had been any reporters present, they would have been concealed behind a red curtain, taking notes with quill pens and trying to avoid being prodded by the swords of passing guests.

FAR FROM IT

Nothing like that happened at the Astor House. Mr. Rockefeller entered the lobby with his secretary, shook hands genially all around, and then did an almost unprecedented thing. He actually apologised to the reporters for having kept them waiting. We heard of only one other man who ever apologised to a newspaper writer for a delay, and he was General Pershing. From which Mr. Aesop could write a perfectly good fable, if he only had the proper magazine connections.

We remember once in our early childhood, being taken out for a glimpse of a president of the United States, and crying all the way home because he looked like any other man.

With the passing of the years has gone our youthful illusions concerning fame, at least in its exterior manifestations; so we were prepared to find Mr. Rockefeller lacking in consequence. But we were not entirely prepared for his qualities of friendliness, his consideration for other people's [illegible] in the face of a heavy artillery fire of questions, some of which would have required three volumes and an appendix for a satisfactory answer. It is evident that Mr. Rockefeller regards his wealth from the standpoint of stewardship and that he considers wastefulness of money as evil in a man of great means as in a person whose bank is made in his suit by the tailor.

TRAVELS SIMPLY

One of the significant features of the interview was Mr. Rockefeller's denial of a story regarding the purchase of an $80,000 art collection in Peking.

"I am as conscious of the value of a dollar as anyone else," Mr. Rockefeller said. "Spending money recklessly means the growth of an unhealthy economic structure and the creation of false standards. The world is suffering today from a debauch of indiscreet spending. People of means really have the greatest responsibility, for if they show ostentation, they set a dangerous pace which others try to follow.

"Rumors have been circulated about the immense expense of this trip to the Orient, but as a matter of fact, we are traveling very simply. Nor have we gone in for the wholesale purchase of collections. I enjoy works of art, and often buy things that appeal to me, but I try to choose carefully and to avoid extravagance."

Another of Mr. Rockefeller's characteristics is his fund of enthusiasm spiced by a keen sense of humor.

"I've had as much fun over here as a child," America's wealthiest man remarked, "I get no end of enjoyment just from walking on the streets, looking in the windows, and wandering into the shops. While in Soochow, I started through the streets in a covered chair and then asked the coolie to take the top off so that I could get a better view of the crowd.

IMPRESSED BY MASSES

The sight of a man in a chair without a top was as funny to them as a person wearing a derby without a brim would be to us, and the people in the streets shouted with laughter. I have always noticed and enjoyed the quick response of the Chinese to any humorous remark or situation.

"I've also been impressed with the teeming life—the great uncounted masses that people China. The population of the United States seems infinitesimal in comparison. The mere mass of numbers is im-

CHINA GIVES ANSWER TO JAPAN'S NOTE ON SHANTUNG

Drafted But Not Yet Sent For Fear Of Public Indignation

MAY NEGOTIATE

Counter-Proposals Plan Giving Railway And Mines To Consortium

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Sept. 29 (9:15 p.m.). —Members of the Chinese Delegation to Washington are leaving tonight by a special train which will arrive at Shanghai at noon on October 1. Dr. W. W. Yen has not joined the delegation but will follow later and will take passage on the Empress of Russia provided China's Shantung policy is determined early enough to enable him to arrive at Washington in time to attend the opening of the conference. Otherwise Dr. Wang Chung-hui, Chief of the Taliyuan of Peking, will be the chief delegate.

A telegram has been sent by the Peking authorities to Dr. Wu Chao-chu of Canton on Sept. 27 offering him the position of associate delegate. It is expected that this offer will be accepted.

The Chinese reply to the despatch of the Japanese Legation on the Shantung issue has been drafted but it has not yet been sent to the Japanese Minister on account of the Government's fear that public opposition over the matter would be aroused.

The Chinese ministers abroad are, however, unanimous in urging that direct negotiations be conducted promptly and this view, according to the latest information, is shared in government circles.

The Chinese reply contains counter-proposals to those advanced in the Japanese note of Sept. 7, one being that the Shantung Railway be placed under the control of the International Banking Consortium with all the mines along the railway, and that Tsingtao is to be made an international settlement under Chinese control on a basis similar to that of the former German and Austrian Concessions in Tientsin and the German Concession in Hankow, while the Maritime Customs shall be administered as in other Treaty Ports.

A despatch was sent by the Minister of Foreign Affairs to the Japanese and American Legations contending that the Yap Agreement as published in the press would constitute violation of China's sovereignty and the principle of international equality. The depatch maintains that the German rights of laying the Shanghai-Yap cable had lapsed when China declared war on Germany. This right was not taken over by any other Power, and that without the consent of China neither Japan nor America can arrogate the right of laying the Yap-Shanghai cable.

SENT TO EXPERTS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 26.—All the Cabinet Ministers called upon the Premier at his residence on Saturday to ascertain his intention with regard to the Premiership. The Premier stated that officially he was on leave but that he would do all he could to deal with important questions. Thereupon a meeting of the cabinet was held there, at which a decision was reached regarding the reply to the Japanese Minister's Note concerning the Shantung question. Yesterday the decision was referred to the President. It is said that the proposed reply secured the approval of the President, but that it will be submitted to experts before being finally adopted.

as well as a deep feeling of brotherly interest in the many men, old and young, who are availing of the facilities offered by the Christian work represented here and are earnestly considering the privileges and responsibilities which the acceptance of Christianity involves.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

HOPES FOR CHINA

"As I see the teeming population of China, the limited educational opportunities, the lack of sanitation, and modern medical skill, the struggle for subsistence, the superstition which still holds many in its grasp, I realise something of China's needs, of the great opportunities which lie before you Christian workers and laymen, and of the difficulties that confront you.

"And as I see the responsiveness of the Chinese people, how quick they are to learn when shown the way, how skillful with their hands, how patient, uncomplaining and hard-working, and the splendid well-equipped native leaders who are coming forward in the various spheres of life in ever increasing numbers. I am full of hope for this great nation, so rich in population and resources.

"Many and difficult of solution are the problems which are pressing on civilisation. There was a time when it was thought that in force was to be found the solution of these problems, but the outcome of the great war in Europe has demonstrated—God grant forever—that force will never be permitted to rule the world.

INDIVIDUALISM FAILS

"Individualism has superseded force as a possible solution of world problems. It has been tried in Europe and in America, as well as in other countries. But individualism is selfishness, it does not promote goodwill; it does not bring contentment or happiness. Surely individualism is not the panacea for which the world is looking.

"And now, of late, leaders in the West have been advocating the adoption of the Golden Rule, 'Do as you would be done by,' as the solution of the problems of civilisation. This is not a new principle; over 2,000 years ago it was enunciated by Christ, the humble carpenter of Nazareth, but in all the intervening centuries it has not been given a fair test. Never has there been so great a need as today for the adoption of this principle and for a return to the simple life and teaching of the Nazarene Carpenter. How we treasure the recorded words of Christ! And yet, after all, it is the powerful influence of his life which has so imprinted itself upon the world. The power of example—what a great force for good or for evil it is in human life! Let me press that thought home upon us.

SPEAKS OF FATHER

"The night before I left New York I went to my father's country home to bid him goodbye. My father is 82 years old and the best father any son ever had. I wrote him the next day that I did not suppose he would ever begin to know what a tremendous influence in my life his example has always been.

"He has exhorted me to patience under unjust criticism and abuse, but I have found him always uncomplaining and sweet spirited in spite of the injustice done him. He has never urged me to abstain from harmful pleasures, nor counselled me as to the propriety of clean living, but since my childhood I have seen him leading a private life that was beyond criticism.

"He has not pressed upon me the virtue of unselfishness, but I have had the constant inspiration of his unprecedented generosity and thoughtfulness of others.

"Whether we know it or not, it is true of every one of us here tonight that other men are daily influenced for good or for evil by our example. If we are strong and clean, and highminded, they will be helped into similar living. When we are weak, and self-indulgent, and selfish, that will be their justification for weakness and self-indulgence and selfishness. Christ and his religion are constantly on trial in the person of every one of his followers. Are we making his life attractive to other men? Are we winning them to him by our daily living, or are we bringing discredit upon his name? No one can avoid the responsibility of example. What of a great opportunity for useful service to our fellowmen the power of example offers?

SPIRIT OF RELIGION

"The second point which I would like to emphasise is that the religion which Christ lived and taught was a religion of the spirit, as contrasted with the formalism of earlier days. So endless had become the laws of the old Jewish religion that it was practically impossible for any one, however zealous, to observe them all. A religion of form makes its appeals to some men because it seems to give freedom from personal responsibility.

"To go through the form of worship is regarded by them as virtuous, however black the heart and unworthy the life. But such a religion cannot command the respect of thinking men. Out of the heart proceeds the issues of life, only as a man's heart is right, as his ideals, his impulses, are right, can his life be worthy. Surely there is much of inspiration and worship in form, nor should its value be underestimated, but only subordinated as secondary and relatively inconsequential. For after all is it not a right spirit towards God and toward our fellowmen which is the essence of true religion.

VALUE OF RELIGION

"Again, the religion which Christ gave the world was a practical workaday religion, the kind of a religion which the man of business and the worker is interested in; not a religion which is put on with one's Sunday clothes, aired only in the house of worship and laid aside at the close of the Sabbath Day; but a religion rather that pervades and dominates a man's life seven days a week; a religion that sets the standards for action and decision in the office, in the store and in the workshop.

"As a business man I place no value upon a religion which does not help me in all of the daily relations of life; which does not express itself in a contract drawn as much in the interest of one party as of the other; in the selling of goods at full weight; in showing the same consideration to one's employees as to one's business associate; in the recognition of all men as the children of God, hence, as our brothers; in some helpful service rendered each day to a less fortunate fellowman; in enforcing justice and fair play for all.

PRACTICAL RELIGION

"The spiritual element in religion is of course supreme, but the practical and the material also have their proper place. Christ fed the hungry, healed the sick and taught the ignorant as well as ministered to the souls of men. We must not forget that food, shelter and raiment are essential as well as spiritual nourishment that men's minds and wills and impulses must be trained as well as their hearts; in short, that all of the needs of men are given consideration in the practical religion which Christ brought to the world.

"And finally, let me lay emphasis on the importance of co-operation in religious work. Since coming to China I have received a letter from a Chinese pastor in the interior telling of his work and of the money which he needed, as he said, "to teach his people Presbyterianism." It is not the "ism" of the Presbyterian Church, the Baptist Church, the Congregational Church, or of any church, that the people of China or any country are interested in, but rather the great fundamental eternal truths of religion.

"The Interchurch World Movement which was developed in the United States a year or two ago was sound in principle. Co-operation on the part of various sects and denominations, union enterprises wherever possible, the most sympathetic inter-relations, are vital in order that the work which all Christian men have so deeply at heart may be most widely extended.

LAUDS CO-OPERATION

"It is a source of the utmost satisfaction to note the co-operative spirit which exists in the religious enterprises of China. The Christian people in the home countries may well be stimulated by the example set here.

"The forces of evil always stand solidly together, working in closest co-operation for the advancement of their nefarious purposes; while too often the earnest and well meant efforts of Christian men are futile because unrelated, and lacking in the power which co-operation alone can give; too often those who are interested in the advancement of righteousness [illegible] are spending their [illegible] energy contending with [illegible] about non-essentials instead of making common warfare [illegible] mon enemy, sin.

"As the weary pilgrims wend their way up the mountainside, from whatever direction they may have journeyed, their paths constantly and inevitably come nearer, while, as has been so beautifully said, all paths meet on the mountain top. So may the day soon come when all good men and women throughout the world will stand together as a united, invincible army, to overthrow the forces of evil and to forward the power of righteousness."

AT Y.W.C.A. TEA

Mrs. Fong Sec of 34 Scott road, member of the China National Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association, entertained Mrs. Rockefeller and party at tea in her home yesterday afternoon. Members of the National Committee gathered in Mrs. Fong's home to meet Mrs. Rockefeller, who earlier in the afternoon made a tour of inspection of the three centers of Association work in Shanghai, conducted by Miss Grace L. Coppock, national general secretary for China. Mrs. Rockefeller is a member of the national board of the Y.W.C.A. in the United States and is greatly interested in the work this organisation is doing in China.

Mrs. H. C. Mei, chairman of the China national committee, presided at the informal discussion following the tea, which was served in true Chinese fashion. Mrs. Mei expressed briefly the committee's appreciation of Mrs. Rockefeller's interest in China generally, and particularly of her support in the work which is being done by the Association for Chinese girls and women.

Miss E. INDIA OBJECTING TO PUTTING ADEN IN COLONY LISTS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 28.—The Indian Council of State have carried a motion protesting against the proposed transfer of Aden to the Colonial Office, only a non-official member supporting the transfer, namely, the representative of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. He urged that the transfer would benefit trade and commerce with the result that Aden would grow in importance like Singapore.

The Secretary for Foreign Affairs said that the Government's attitude of benevolent neutrality toward the transfer was largely due to the growing expenditure on Aden.

The Manchester Guardian says that Mr. Winston Churchill, the Colonial Secretary, has several plans for the development of Aden, and hoped to extend the protectorate to the Bahrein Islands, thus linking up with Basra and the Persian Gulf; also that he intends to amalgamate the administration of Aden and Somaliland.

PARIS SHOP FIRE MENACES FIGHTERS WITH HUGE CRANE

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 28.—The entire fire brigade of Paris is fighting an appalling fire at the Grands Magasins du Printemps on the Boulevard Haussmann. The fire, which is attributed to a short circuit, started in a kitchen at the top of the building and rapidly spread to the entire building, the front of which collapsed. Portions of the burning edifice are falling on the adjoining buildings.

Packers and car-men earlier endeavored to save goods, particularly valuable carpets, by throwing them out of the windows. The burning block was recently opened and a giant crane, still standing above it, is menacing the firemen who have withdrawn from the narrow gap between the new and the old blocks as the falling facade is filling the street with huge masses of blazing debris.

The new block of the Printemps building, which is a magnificent structure of five storeys, covering three acres of ground, has been gutted. The old block was threatened owing to the wind blowing the flames across the narrow streets between the buildings and was only saved through the great exertions of the firemen.

The fact that the fire started early in the morning before the arrival of 5,000 employes prevented a serious loss of life. So far, the only casualties are two firemen injured. The damage must be enormous, possibly amounting to millions of francs, furs, tapestry and silks of fabulous cost having been destroyed.

Daylight Robbery Yarn Fails To Go; Shroff Is Arraigned

A thrilling story of a daylight holdup on Tuesday in which three robbers relieved him of Tls. 216, the total of his day's collections for his employing firm, the Shanghai Mutual Telephone Company so far failed to impress his superior shroff that the collector was arraigned in the Mixed Court yesterday charged with embezzlement.

The prisoner had been in the employ of the telephone company for eight years. When his story of robbery was doubted he broke down and confessed that he had appropriated the money. He would not however say how he had disposed of it.

The hearing was remanded for inquiry.

URGES SOYA BEAN AS SOLUTION OF RUSSIAN FAMINE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 28.—"It is a matter of the highest political importance that the West should learn the lesson of cheaper living as taught to them by the East in the adaptation of the soya bean as an article of food. Given the existing situation of the Continent, this is the only real solution of the problem of reconstruction," says a statement made to the Vienna correspondent of the Times by Dr. Berczeller, a young Hungarian who has been experimenting with the soya bean as a food.

Dr. Berczeller claims to have succeeded in creating three foods, namely, bread, flour, and milk, in which the biological factor has been taken into account.

This "manna" bread is the cheapest in the market and is very palatable and easily digested, while "manna" milk is very similar to cow's milk, at one-sixth of the cost. The doctor suggests that these foodstuffs are suitable to combat the Russian famine owing to their cheapness, compactness and speediness of production, while a diffusion of these foodstuffs, he says, would lead to the permanent cultivation of the soya bean in the Ukraine which would be very important to the future provisioning of Europe.

Three Embezzlement Cases Are Heard In Mixed Court

Fearon, Daniel and Co. pressed a charge against Lieu Ching-woo, a broker who, while serving the firm in installation work in outports, made unauthorised collections totaling Tls. 1,030. The assistant at the conclusion of the hearing was sentenced to 18 months in prison, with the understanding that the sentence might be reduced should he repay the money embezzled.

Lieu was sent to Wusih some time ago, according to the complaint, to install an electric light plant sold to the Bank of Communications. He had no authority to collect money for the company. When the work was finished he collected $600 and gave a forged receipt for the amount.

Checking up Lieu's accounts it was found that he had also embezzled Tls. 527 on a job at Pukow, and other smaller amounts.

Lieu admitted the embezzlement yesterday. He said he had spent the money in Pukow in having a good time. A civil action will be brought against his guarantors for recovery of the money.

MUST IDENTIFY MAN

If Wong Mih-shuh, who claims to be the proprietor of a shop in Chapei, can point out one Woo Mow-tsar from among a crowd of prisoners in the police station today, he will have an excellent chance of establishing his claim that Woo, while acting as his manager, embezzled an aggregate sum of $10,883.

The issue between complainant and defendant, it appears, is the point of the ownership of the shop. Woo declares that he is the owner, that he does not even know Wong, that it would be impossible for him to wrongfully appropriate shop profits at Wong's expense. The identity test was suggested by Mr. H. D. Rodger for the accused. It was finally agreed to by the complainant. If Wong cannot identify Woo in the crowd of prisoners, his case fails.

Woo was arrested yesterday morning. Wong charged that since the Fourth Moon of the present year Woo had wrongfully appropriated property of the shop. He maintained that he is the sole proprietor, and that Woo is merely his manager.

The defendant Woo is a Chinese native of Formosa. His case was remanded for the Japanese assessor. The identity test will be made today. Woo was permitted liberty on $3,000 shop security, but he asked permission to remain in his cell until after he had applied the test to his accuser. The request was granted.

KWE AND ROUBLES

Speculations in roubles was given in the Mixed Court yesterday by a bank assistant, named Kwe Sung, who had embezzled $800 last January, as the reason for his inability to make the sum good.

Kwe got the money by a bold bit of a trickery. A messenger from an exchange shop sent $3,300 in silver to a Chinese bank to have it exchanged into bank notes. The exchange was made, and just as the messenger left the bank Kwe rushed out saying that his master sent him to take $800 back. He absconded with the sum.

It cost Kwe's guarantor $1,200 to "settle" his embezzlement. He admitted his guilt in court. He was sentenced to 9 months imprisonment.

Make Markets Of Colonies, Advice Of Mr. Churchill

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 28.—In the course of his address to members of the Gold Coast Civil Service at a dinner yesterday, Mr. Churchill declared that many of our old customers have disappeared. We had killed a lot of them and had put others in the bankruptcy court so that they were unable to renew their orders with the regularity and abundance which we were entitled to expect.

He asked why we did not look in the great circle of the British Empire where there were assets in which we could sink £200,000,000 during the next ten years with a certainty of recovering every penny invested. It seemed to him, he concluded, that the development of the Crown Colonies was one of the factors which ought to be used in solving the temporary collapse of markets and purchasers.

UPPER YANGTSZE STILL BARRED TO RIVER STEAMERS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, Sept. 28.—The Steamer Hungkiang, flying the French flag, left on Monday for Chungking and was heavily fired on beyond Pingshanpa. Two of the crew were wounded, but the ship proceeded on its journey. H.M.S. Teal arrived from Chungking on Monday afternoon and was also fired on, two persons being slightly wounded. This morning H.M.S. Teal proceeded upwards to interview the Szechuen General at Nantu in the hope of opening the river to steamer traffic.

When it was above Pingshanpa the Szechuenese on the South bank of the river heavily fired on the ship, which fire H.M.S. Teal returned with six pounders and machine-guns, and destroyed three houses. It then considered it advisable to return to Ichang and on passing the same place another engagement occurred.

The Loong Mow, trusting that the Teal had been successful left at nine o'clock, but returned to port with H.M.S. Teal. The Kiangking arrived from Chungking this morning. It was not fired on and reports that it was not held by the Szechuen Government, but had been boycotted, and so was delayed for a long time.

DENIES WU BROKE DYKE

Peking, Sept. 28.—A foreign official telegram denies the report that General Wu Pei-fu opened dykes and drowned a large number of Hunanese during the fighting in Hunan.

Peking, Sept. 28.—A message from Yunnanfu states that Canton is asking Yunnan for assistance in forming an expedition against the North, but as the Yunnan authorities understand that General Tang Chi-yao is the prime mover and is hoping thereby to regain control of Yunnan the request is therefore unlikely to gain their consent.

Peking, Sept. 26.—According to an official telegram received here from Hankow, it is learned from Ichang that, following heavy fighting during the past twenty-four hours that city is now cleared of Szechuan troops.

The upper river appears also to be clear as an American steamer had arrived from Chungking without being molested on the trip.

Soviet To Lease Idle Mills And Industrial Works

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, September 20.—Since the promulgation of the new industrial laws about four months ago, the Supreme Economic Council has been working very hard to increase productivity of industrial enterprises by the leasing of idle mills and factories.

Consumers' and producers' co-operative societies are being formed with the right to lease factories, mills, and shops on an equal basis with private individuals and companies. The State retains the more vital industries.

The Perm District Economic Council is leasing 50 flour mills, 5 rope factories, 10 soap factories, 2 molasses and 2 oil factories. In the Moscow textile district there are leased 33 textile mills, 5 match factories, 37 shoe factories and 4,000 small shops of various descriptions.

The cotton mills of Rojdestvenskaya, Makarovskaya, and Vishnevolozkaya near Moscow have 300,000 poods of cotton in stock which will last for five months with the present number of workers totalling 80,000 employed. The industrial establishments in the Kostroma Province are supplied with fuel and raw materials for eight months.

LEASE COAL MINES

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, September 23.—In view of the decrease in the output of coal in the Donetz basin during July and August in connection with the food shortage, the Council of Labor and Defence, after thorough investigation, resolved to exclude the "peasant" mines from the administration of the Donetz Mining Department and lease them to private individuals.

'German Work May Make Rest Of The World Worse Off'

(Reuter's Service)

Munich, Sept. 28.—The feature of today's proceedings at the congress of the Imperial Association for German trade was a remarkable speech by Dr. Rathenau. He declared that a complete fulfilment of the terms of the ultimatum would hit the world economically more severely than Germany. The more Germany must work the more others must cease working. He advocated going to the limit of their capacity regarding reparation.

Austrian Pact In Sight Is France's Word To Conference

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 23.—The Conferences of Ambassadors met today under the Presidency of M. Jules Cambon. The French government announced that, as a result of the proposed offers of mediation, they were within sight of an agreement with Austria. The Conference also placed on record the expression of willingness by the Hungarian government to conform in every case in question with the decisions of the Powers.

The Conference sees no objection to the conclusion of an agreement between Austria and Hungary, if Austria accepts under reserve the decision of the Conference and completes the evacuation of the disputed territory within the period fixed in the Conference's last note.

DISTRIBUTE SEEDS

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, September 20.—How the Soviet Government has managed for the time being the difficult situation in the famine districts is shown in the report of the Soviet Famine Relief Committee.

The report says that the sowing season in the northern famine districts was extended to September 25 and for southern provinces, not affected by famine, to October 1.

As it was impossible to secure the grain seeds from abroad in time the Centrosoyus was ordered to turn over all its grain supplies to the Famine Committee, which distributed it to the peasants of the northern famine districts in the first place with the result that by September 25, a larger area of fall crops will be sown than last year. The foreign seeds which have arrived have been distributed to peasants strictly or sowing purposes. The later shipments of seeds from abroad will be distributed for consumption and returned to Centrosoyus.

The Central Famine Relief Committee has published a statement saying that the seed campaign for the famine districts is considered closed, as 30,000,000 poods of seeds, instead of the proposed 12,000,000 poods, have been collected.

Porgage-la-Prairie, Sept. 28.—Premier Meighen, opening his election campaign here today, urged a protective tariff to safeguard Canada's industries against world-wide competition. He did not believe in a high protective tariff, which would be unfair to the West, but proposed a voluntary pool of the principal grains to be handled by the Government.

GREEKS HARD HIT BY KEMAL; LOSE MUCH ARTILLERY

(Reuter's Service)

Smyrna, Sept. 23.—In reviewing the operations in Anatolia during the month of August, it is now evident that the failure of the Greek offensive cost a heavy sacrifice. Their right wing was too extended when they crossed the Sakharia River, and the Turks, attacking, drove back two divisions in disorder with heavy loss including most of their artillery.

The Greeks were completely held by the Turkish second line, whereupon a Turkish counter-offensive developed with considerable and unexpected reserves against the exhausted Greeks whose General Staff, after a hurried council of war, decided to retreat behind the Sakharia.

It is estimated that the Greeks lost 25,000 men in desperate fighting. The Turkish losses are also very heavy.

pressive in the extreme and indicates that when China is reborn, she will be a force in the world of incalculable power. I look forward to the ultimate revival of China and to the development of her great wealth of natural resources.

"One of the strongest characteristics of the people seems to be their patience and self-control.' We of the West have a great deal to learn from them in regard to restraining temper and keeping good-natured in a crowd."

Mr. Rockefeller commented likewise on the intelligent, neat, and self-respecting appearance of Chinese women. "I have not seen one woman who looked frowsy or ill-kept, regardless of her class," Mr. Rockefeller remarked.

SKILL OF DOCTORS

The establishment of the Peking Union Medical College grew out of the interest which Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Sr. has always had in China. The original purpose had been to open a university for general education, but after receiving reports from three commissions sent to the Orient to investigate, Mr. Rockefeller decided that the need for medical education was greatest and plans for a college in Peking took shape accordingly.

"I have found that Chinese doctors trained after Western methods are exceedingly skilful," Mr. Rockefeller said. "Dr. Tuffier, one of the most eminent surgeons in France, said that a Chinese whom he saw perform an operation at the college involving the transplanting of skin, carried it out much better than he could have done himself."

"The original plan to establish a post-graduate school in Shanghai has been abandoned," Mr. Rockefeller stated in response to a question. "We have decided that the one institution in Peking will accomplish everything possible in pointing the way to medical education. Besides, there are great difficulties in the way of staffing another institution. It has taken years to acquire a staff for the Peking Union Medical College and many vacancies have not yet been filled."

HOPE HE DOESN'T

At the close of the interview Mr. Rockefeller did another unprecedented thing. He apologised to the newspaper writers for having taken up so much of their time, and there wasn't any sarcasm in his voice, either. He didn't know, of course, that fifty percent of the time in newspaper offices is taken up listening to other people's telephone calls and throwing useless contributions into the well-known waste basket. We hope that he never finds out.

There was a time when we belonged to the Radical Club, and ate ravioli at the monthly meetings and listened to college sophomores talk about the Proletariat. We even gave ten cents once to a Society for Taking the Conscience Out of Conscientious Objectors, or something like that. On Sunday afternoons, we used to toast capitalistic marshmallows before the family's capitalistic fireplace and make mean remarks to our friends about private property.

But at the risk of being blackballed forever from the Radical Club, we rise to remark that if we could choose between raising the level of wealth a few dollars per capita in the United States by distribution of Mr. Rockefeller's means and leaving the family fortune where it is, we would leave it where it is.

INDEED A CONTRAST

In deep contrast to a rich woman who has been startling Europe by her expenditures and who is planning to visit the United States to squander $15,000,000 in thirty days is Mr. Rockefeller's consciousness of stewardship and his desire to make his fortune an instrument of service.

The wise distribution of his gifts, his personal interest in their administration, and the comprehensive plan of giving as embodied in the Peking Union Medical College mark a new departure in philanthropy.

Rich men who believe that they discharge the obligations of wealth by casually signing checks at the behest of secretaries reap comparatively little satisfaction from their gifts. Mr. Rockefeller has not only brought the means of the highest medical education possible to a whole people—he has enriched the gift by personal interest and by a sympathetic understanding of the race he seeks to benefit.

COUNTERFEITERS ARE REMANDED; BAIL IS REFUSED

The twenty counterfeiters who were arrested in a police raid on their illicit mint Tuesday afternoon at 153-4 North Kiangse Road were refused bail in the Mixed Court yesterday when the hearing of their case was adjourned one week for further inquiry.

American Assessor N. F. Allman and Magistrate Tsang were urged by the prosecuting officer, Detective Sergeant Conduit, to visit the counterfeiting plant before hearing the testimony, so that they might know at first hand the completeness of the equipment used, and the perfection of their methods.

The court indicated it would investigate.

GERMOL FOR THE HAIR

What It Is

'GERMOL' is the result of many years patient investigation by Specialists. It has a single object—The Treatment of the Hair. It has wonderful properties for killing the germs of Dandruff, and so destructive to hair growth and beauty. By the special process discovered by the proprietors 'GERMOL' treats the diseased and debilitated hair roots and sacs. 'GERMOL' is a beautifully crystalclear preparation; very pleasant to use, and non-greasy. It is totally unlike any other hair preparation.

What It Does

By killing the germs 'GERMOL' allows the hair to grow naturally. By its special 'feeding' properties it gives wonderful, new and vigorous life to the hair roots, making the hair grow luxuriantly, and restoring its youthful beauty. It will produce that healthy hair which always has the sheen so much desired by men and women careful of their appearance. It kills the Dandruff producing germs. Remember that neglected Dandruff always causes falling hair. Unless properly treated falling hair always ends in baldness. You can't have Dandruff if you use 'GERMOL'—it will remove it in three days.

Shanghai Interport Bowlers Entertained By Hongkong At A Sporting Farewell Dinner

Final Match Played Between Visitors And Hongkong's Interport Team Of Two Years Ago Results After Ragged Play In Score Of 26-20

Hongkong, September 24.—The Hongkong lawn bowls players entertained their Shanghai opponents at a dinner given at the Hongkong Hotel last night. There was a large gathering present. The room where the festivities were held was tastefully decorated. During the course of the evening and interpersing the toasts a fine musical program of songs was rendered.

The chairman proposed the toast of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association. He spoke of the well fought matches which had been played during the week. The Shanghai team had put up a very good fight and he hoped that they would come back again. If they did they could be sure of a hearty welcome. Mr. Dyer expressed the hope that the visitors had found the local greens all they desired.

Mr. Ferguson, the "skip" of the Hongkong team, who spoke in support of the toast said it had been a pleasure to meet the Shanghai team. They were worthy opponents and good bowlers. Hongkong only won the interport match by a small margin. He hoped next year to be one of the party to go to Shanghai and try the fast greens there and bring back the flag—they had never done it yet. He thanked the Shanghai team for the way they had taken such defeats as had come their way and he hoped they would remember Hongkong players as being good sportsmen—like themselves.

Mr. J. Shaw, the "skip" of the Shanghai team, responded. He said that the welcome extended to them had exceeded all their expectations. They had had a fine time and every club visited had treated them right royally. When Hongkong visited then they would try to do as well.

As regards the interport match, Mr. Shaw remarked that he did not think he had ever had a tighter contest. The "skip" then presented the Shanghai flag to Mr. Dyer, as President of the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association.

Mr. D. McAlister submitted the toast of "The Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association." He hoped Hongkong would send the best team they could to Shanghai next year "and won't they get it in the neck," added Mr. McAlister, amid much laughter.

The Shanghai players drank the toast and gave three cheers for the Hongkong Association. Mr. J. H. N. Mody replied for the Association.

Hongkong, Sept. 24.—The final lawn bowls match played between Shanghai and the Hongkong interport team of two years ago resulted in a 26-20 win for Hongkong.

The game which was rather ragged at the beginning picked up later and was strenuously contested thoroughout, but towards the end the home team got ahead and although Shanghai scored at the last four heads they were beaten by 26 to 20. The following were the teams and details of the game:

GOV. GEN. FORBES' POLO TEAM WINS OVER PEKING, 3-1

Three Chukkers Filled With Fast Riding And Long Hitting

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Sept. 24.—International Polo on an informal scale came to Peking today, when the Wood Mission team, captained by Major Peter Bowditch and with former Governor-General W. Cameron Forbes playing No. 2, met a strong Peking Polo Club four and defeated it in three fast chukkers by a score of 3 goals to one.

About 100 persons gathered a the French Glacis in spite of the rain to see the match, which started at 4:45, after over an hour's delay due to the necessity for repairing the rain-soaked grounds, which had got bad in spots.

The Americans started off towards Peking as soon as the whistle blew, and some pretty combination work by the whole four resulted in a back-hand shot straight through the goal by Colonel Johnston within a minute of the game's beginning. Peking came back and scored a pretty goal by Newbigging a couple of minutes later; while the Americans went into the lead again when Johnston scored a goal from a semi-scrimmage in front of the goal mouth.

In the second chukker, as in the first, the Americans had most of the game, although some of Peking's breakaways looked dangerous. Towards the middle of the chukker a fine run by Forbes, Bowditch and Johnston resulted in the third and last American goal, Johnston hitting the ball between the posts with a beautiful backhander.

The third and last chukker went by scoreless. The Americans pressed most of the time, but were unable to put the ball through, while Peking's efforts were always frustrated by Colonel Johnston, who played the best game at back that has been seen in Peking for a long time.

It was a beautiful game to watch throughout, and the hard riding of every one and the long hitting of the Americans, especially their skill in backhand hitting, were features. Both sides were well mounted, but the Americans had the advantage of having played together more. They were superior to Peking in team-work and position play; and this, with their hitting, won the game for them.

Major Bowditch of the Wood Mission team was the most brilliant player on the field, while Colonel Johnston played safely at back in addition to making all three goals for his side. Governor Forbes was also good and kept the Peking defense busy time and again.

The line-up:

Peking Polo Club—R. C. Allen (Capt.), back; Lt. Col. Smallwood, No. 3; Newbigging, No. 2; Kingland, No. 1.

Wood Mission—Lt. Col. Johnston, back; Major Bowditch (Capt.), No. 3; Governor Forbes, No. 2; Colonel McCoy, No. 1.

Goals: Johnston, 3, for Wood Mission; Newbigging, 1, for Peking. Referee: Mr. S. F. Mayers.

This Golf Club's 19th Hole Is Just Outside Dry U.S

New York, August 29.—The "Duke of Balboa," who arrived from Panama City on the steamship Essequibo, startled ship news reporters by announcing there's a golf club in the U. S. A. that has a "nineteenth hole" one and a half inches across the border.

The "Duke of Balboa," in his native town of New Orleans is Theodore McGinis, but he says he prefers to live near the only nineteenth hole connected with an American golf club.

"All the best people in the canal zone belong to this club, which I am very much interested in," he said. "And, believe me, there is a well-beaten path from the canal to the clubhouse. Being the only brewer in Panama City, I have been elected chairman of the house committee. That was a wonderful idea to build the nineteenth hole just across the line, wasn't it? Oh, yes, we play golf, too."

McGinis was met at the pier by his wife, who came here some time ago.

'B.' CO. HOLDS ITS ANNUAL RIFLE MEET TOMORROW

Field Artillery Battery To Carry Out Gun Practice At Woosung Sunday

The preparation of the miniature rifle range on the roof of the new Administration building is being taken in hand. This range will adjoin the gymnasium. It should be ready by the end of the present year. Eight men will be able to fire simultaneously. Protection against weather is to be provided both at the firing point and at the butts, while a covered alleyway will also be available for individuals to move from one to the other. The targets will be arranged on the Solano principle, the necessary materials being on order from home. Until this new range is ready, recruits will continue to be exercised in miniature range work at the present range in the Town Hall.

The Field Artillery Battery is to carry out gun practice at Woosung on Sunday, November 6. The Commandant will be very glad if as many members of the Corps as possible will come and see this practice, and will personally undertake to keep spectators informed as to what is happening. Howitzer practice is extraordinarily interesting from the fact that the flight of the shell can be followed with the naked eye.

An envelope addressing machine is now in the possession of Corps Headquarters. Unit Commanders wishing to circularise members of their units may send envelopes to be put through the machine at any time, if they desire to do so.

The next officers mess dinner will be on Wednesday next at 8 p.m. at the Shanghai Club—winter uniform.

Apropos of the procedure at military dinners, the universal procedure in the British Army is that at the conclusion of the dinner proper, nothing, other than the wine, wine glasses and dessert plates, is put on the table until the King's health has been drunk. Further, British units should note that "God Save the King" is never sung on such occasions. If a band is in attendance, those present stand silently at attention, while the band plays the first bars of the National Anthem, and drink the toast when the band stops playing.

"B" COMPANY, BRITISH

This Units Annual Rifle Meeting will commence at 2 p.m. Saturday, 1st when the bulk of the Unit will commence their Efficiency Course. Firing will be resumed at 9 a.m. Sunday, October 2 and tiffin will be served at 1 p.m. Colonel R. Marr Johnson, C.M.G., D.S.O., and other Officers of the Headquarters Staff will be the guests of the Unit at tiffin.

Ninety percent of the members have entered for the whole meeting which, given fine weather, should be very interesting in view of the new service conditions and influx of new members.

Rockefeller To Golf When 100 Says His Physician

John D Rockefeller & Dr H. F. Biggar' INTL.

The prediction that John D. Rockefeller, who recently celebrated his eighty-second birthday, will live to be one hundred years old was made in Cleveland the other day by Dr. H. F. Biggar, his physician and lifelong friend. The doctor, who is also eighty-two, looks forward to a golf match with the Oil King when both have rounded the century mark. Dr. Biggar said: "Mr. Rockefeller is in better health now than many a man of fifty. Anyone who follows his sensible way of living can live to be a centenarian. Mr. Rockefeller once had indigestion, but he does not suffer from it now. He can eat anything, but he observes one of the prime laws of health and eats moderately. Often I have heard him remark, as he rose from the dinner table, 'I could have eaten more.' His good sense tells him that moderation in diet is a prerequisite of endurance." To Dr. Biggar is given the credit for prolonging the life of the world's richest man.

U. OF W.-WASEDA BASEBALL SERIES HELD UP BY RAIN

Washington Players Hope To Get Acclimated In Time To Win Second Game

Tokio, Sept. 25.—Driving rain which flooded the diamond forced postponement of the baseball game scheduled for yesterday between the University of Washington and the Waseda team. A game is scheduled with Keio this afternoon but it will probably be postponed also. Coach Allison of the University of Washington team wishes to play the game, postponed because of yesterday's rain, on Monday and has started negotiations with the Waseda athletic authorities with that end in view. If weather permits Washington will meet Waseda at 2.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Waseda now has the lead having won the first game, but the boys from Seattle have recovered from the stage fright which goes with the first performance on a diamond in a foreign land with the result that Coach Allison expects them to come back with more pep and smash than they demonstrated last Saturday.

It was their own fault they lost the first game, which argues well for the belief that if they can strike their normal hitting all will be well for them. Coach Allison will not know who will appear on the mound until after the pitching staff warms up. It is probable, however, that Leonard will pitch next as he already has the experience of one game against Abe's men. This will probably result in Setzer entering the box against Keio. Taniguchi will probably pitch for Waseda.

Siemssen Wins 220-Yd Swim In Hongkong; Only Shanghai Man To Place On Second Day

Hongkong Takes First And Second In Long Plunge Event, And Second In The Race; Interport Swim Now Stands Shanghai 6, Hongkong 14

Points in the interport swimming gala between Shanghai and Hongkong stands at Hongkong 14, Shanghai 6 at the end of the second day's events.

Yesterday's program, which was composed of but two events, the 220-yard swim and the Long Plunge gave one place to Shanghai and three to Hongkong.

The 220-yard swim went to E. A. S. Siemssen of Shanghai, John J. Johnstone of Hongkong was second. The time was 2:40. The Long Plunge saw both places taken by Hongkong men. M. Souza was first and L. Souza, second. The distance was 62 feet 10 inches.

Telegrams yesterday did not disclose whether Tordy and Brodie started in the 220-yard race or not, nor whether MacCabe participated in the Long Plunge. If any of these men did compete they were unplaced.

Results of the interport meet to date follow:

880-yard swim, Hongkong first and second.

220-yard swim, Shanghai first, Hongkong second.

Long Plunge, Hongkong first and second.

Ball Throwing, Shanghai first, Hongkong second.

Shanghai two firsts; Hongkong, two firsts, four seconds.

Today's program has two more events, the 440-yard swim and the Running Headers From Springboard. Siemssen, Brodie and Brown are expected to swim for Shanghai in the quarter mile, while Brown, Goldman, Brodie and Siemssen will likely participate in the diving.

The meet closes tomorrow with the 100 yard swim. The standing high diving, the 100 yard back stroke, the relay race and the water polo.

Shanghai Kelantan Estates

The meeting of creditors of the Shanghai Kelantan Rubber Estates, Limited (in liquidation) was held at the offices of Seth, Mancell and McLure, Shanghai, on Thursday, September 29, 1921.

Mr. S. A. Seth, Liquidator, presided and there were five creditors present.

Mr. Seth said:

Gentlemen.—I will read the notice calling this meeting. (Notice read). The purpose of the meeting is to give you an opportunity, if you so desire, to exercise the rights you possess under sub. sections (2) and (3) of section 181 of the companies ordinance which I will read to you. (Sub. sections read).

The business which may be transacted at this meeting is limited to deciding whether or not application shall be made to the Court in regard to the appointment of another liquidator, or of a committee of inspection.

The whole of the company's assets are mortgaged under a debenture issue and, from information I have received, a sale at the present time would not realise sufficient even to pay off the debenture-holders.

The debenture-holders and myself have had three conferences regarding the policy to be adopted and after consideration and a consultation with Major Sime of Messrs. Sime, Darby and Co., Ltd. of Malacca, who happened to be in Shanghai, they have declared to carry on for the time being rather than exercise their powers of sale. To do this they will require to advance still more money but they have agreed to do this in the hope that it will eventually benefit you and the shareholders as well as themselves.

The debenture-holders, after consultation with Major Sime and with a view to greater economy, have decided to place the control of the estates in the hands of his firm, and they have also appointed me their receiver in addition to my office of liquidator.

The creditors present are at liberty to discuss the business to be transacted.

Mr. N. G. Maitland called the liquidator's attention to the position of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation who had come to the assistance of the Company and it had been agreed as between the directors and the debenture-holders that the Bank would rank on an equal footing as the debenture-holders themselves and that the Bank were to be given debentures as security for the amount of their overdraft.

The following resolution proposed by Mr. M. Speelman and seconded by Mr. N. G. Maitland was adopted.

"That no application be made to the Court for the appointment of any person as liquidator in the place of or jointly with the liquidators appointed by the company or for the appointment of a Committee of Inspection."

British Women's Association

A general meeting of the British Women's Association will be held at the Lyceum Theater October 13.

Members are reminded that any suggestions or resolutions they may wish to bring forward at this time must be in the secretary's hands on or before October 1.

So many suggestions and criticisms in regard to the running of the Association have been made casually and unofficially to members of the executive committe and to the secretary from time to time that it is greatly hoped that advantage may be taken of this meeting arranged for that express purpose—to bring forward constructive measures and to submit ideas connected with the development of the Association for discussion.

There is a very genuine desire on the part of the executive committee for co-operation on the part of every member who is interested in the welfare of the Association and it should be possible with due preparation to discuss well thought out suggestions for the development, administration and financial arrangements for the future at the general meeting.

In order, therefore, that resolutions should be formulated and to afford time to obtain speakers in their support or otherwise members are once more invited to forward their criticisms and suggestions without delay to the Secretary at 9 Kiukiang Road, stating at the same time whether they will be prepared to speak at the meeting.

ORIENTAL SAILS TOMORROW FOR SAN FRANCISCO

Third Shipping Board Freighter Built Here Exceeds Expectations

The steamer Oriental, third of the four sister ships built here by the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Company for the United States Shipping Board, passed all expectations and estimates on her trial run, which was conducted off the mouth of the Yangtsze on Monday, and will sail for San Francisco direct tomorrow. The Oriental will take mail to America.

The first of the four shipping board steamers built in Shanghai is the Mandarin, now in service on the Atlantic. The second, the Celestial, also is in service to Europe from Pacific ports. The Oriental, sailing Saturday is the third and the fourth, the Cathay, launched several weeks ago is being fitted with power equipment and will be given her trial run probably in the next six weeks.

It may be asserted that opinion in America, based upon the performances of the Mandarin and the Celestial, has held that these ships built in China surpass all the other vessels built for the American Shipping Board. They are the largest ever built in China.

On its trials the Oriental passed records set by both of its predecessors, attaining a sea speed of 13.4 knots an hour. Its estimated speed when launched was 10.5 knots an hour. All four vessels are of 14,500 tons displacement. On its maiden run to America the Oriental will carry American mails and is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco on October 20.

The note instances the Bavarian railway authorities threatening to close down restaurants selling Entente goods.

KOREANS TAKEN OFF BOAT AT KOBE

Three Are Held As Suspected Leaders Of Provisional Government In Shanghai

Kobe, September 17.—A sensation was caused in Kobe today upon the arrival of the N.Y.K. steamer Inaba Maru, bound for London, when a dozen of the water police boarded the liner and arrested three Koreans, who are suspected of being leaders in the Korean Provisional Government's administration in Shanghai. The Koreans boarded the boat at Yokohama.

No definite evidence has been secured against the men as yet, but they are being held here under strict police surveillance. Many letters and documents were seized when their quarters on the boat were raided.

GAVE HER BABY RELIEF AT ONCE

What Another Mother Says About Baby's Own Tablets.

Mothers everywhere are finding Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, immensely valuable for their little ones. Here is what an American mother says:

"My baby was much troubled with wind colic", writes Mrs. B. Williams, of Perth Amboy, N. Y., "and nothing seemed to do any good until I tried Baby's Own Tablets. They gave relief at once and I would not be without them. I have taken great pleasure in recommending the Tablets to my friends."

Baby's Own Tablets contain no opiates or narcotics, and are guaranteed an absolutely harmless remedy for infantile indigestion, simple fever, colic, constipation and diarrhoea. They expel worms, allay the pains of teething, promote health-giving sleep and regular development.

Of chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Paris, Sept. 20.—Semi-official conversations have been begun and will take place every Tuesday between the chief delegates on the Reparations Commission of France, Great Britain, Italy, the United States and Belgium, on the subject of the Wiesbaden agreement on reparations in kind by Germany.

The purpose of these conversations is to check the payments, notified to Germany in May. The newspapers emphasise that these meetings are characterised by a spirit of conciliation and understanding.

Seize And Sell To Seize Again, Is Way Of Whiskey Police

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Sept. 29.—Great amusement has been caused in anti-Prohibition circles by the evidence before the Grand Jury against the Chicago police who are accused of circumventing prohibition.

It appears that the police confiscated the liquor on its arrival in Chicago, afterwards selling it cheaply in a private capacity. Then uniformed police would again confiscate the liquor.

This process, which was called "multiple shakedown," was repeated half a dozen times until the liquor was finally consigned in prison vans to rich public houses.

In one instance a pitched battle occurred between rival bands of police for possession of a carload of Kentucky whiskey.

Tokio, Sept. 27.—In addition to the three chief delegates, Prince Tokugawa, Admiral Kato and Baron Shidehara, Japan's representatives to Washington will include 22 from the Foreign Office, three from the Finance Department, seven from the War Office and 12 from the Navy Department, of whom the most prominent are Mr. Sennosuke Yokota, Chief of the Legislative Bureau, Mr. Hanihara, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Matsudaira, Chief of the Bureau of European and American Affairs, Mr. Kiroku Hayashi, Counsellor, and Mr. Torutakao of the Information Bureau, from the Foreign Office, and Major-General Kunishige Tanaka and Vice-Admiral Hiroharu Kato.

More than one hundred delegates to the Pacific Disarmament Conference left Peking last night on a special train for Shanghai, and will arrive here Saturday morning.

While in Shanghai the delegates will be entertained extensively and plans are being made for an elaborate dinner to be given in their honor. They will stop at the Palace and Great Eastern Hotels and at the homes of leading Chinese of the city. The delegation will sail on the Hawkeye State of the Admiral Line October 4.

YEN NOT GOING

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Peking, Sept. 29.—Because of the Shantung question and other embarrassing questions, Dr. Yen, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, has definitely decided not to proceed to Washington, so Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to Great Britain, has been asked to serve as chief of the Chinese delegation to the Washington Conference.

The Chinese delegation to the Washington Conference left for Shanghai tonight on their way to America.

President Hsu Shih-chang has appointed Mr. Hsu Shih-ying Civil Governor of Anhui. Mr. Hsu was formerly Minister of Communications and Justice.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Sept. 26.—Failure of the Powers participating in the Washington Conference to give representatives of Russia even unofficial participation in the sessions of the Conference has been criticised in many sections of the American press, according to telegraphic and mail reports received in Peking. This criticism is not confined to newspapers of any one part of the United States, but may be found in the press of Washington, New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and the West Coast. Newspaper trade journals are as emphatic in their criticism as the daily newspapers.

Most of the American newspapers which regret that Russia is not to have an unofficial hearing at the Conference agree that Russia is now more than ever before an Eastern Power. She has been cut off from the West by the buffer states that were created at the end of the war, and in the same manner her hope of an outlet through the Bosphorus has vanished forever.

There remains to her, according to these newspapers, the Far East, where she has huge territories and 15 millions of citizens, and where her vast interests have suffered a serious set-back due to events coming out of the war and the Russian Revolution.

No Power or group of Powers, it is argued, can solve the problems arising out of Russia's interests in the Far East without the assistance and co-operation of Russia herself. Whether the co-operation be given officially or unofficially is immaterial as long as Russia is in some way represented at the Washington Conference, ready to be called on when matters relating to the Russian Far East are brought up.

Without the presence of Russian representatives at Washington, say these American newspapers, the Pacific Conference cannot be an unqualified success, as there is no way of obliging Russia to abide by the decisions of the Conference, in so far as they concern her, when she has been denied the right to take part in the Conference. And this, say many newspapermen in the United States, means that the Conference cannot fully attain its object of assuring lasting peace in the Far East.

France, it is stated here, is responsible for the refusal of the participating Powers to grant Russia unofficial representation at the coming discussions at Washington. America, Great Britain and Japan, while agreeing that Russia could have no official representation, were prepared to give her delegates an unofficial hearing in matters relating to Russian Far-Eastern problems. This did not, however, meet with the wishes of France, which true to her policy of the last four years, declined to enter into relations of any kind with representatives of the existing Russian Governments.

American newspapermen plan, it is said, to bring up the question of Russia's unofficial representation at the Pacific Conference before the Pan-Pacific Press Conference, which meets at Honolulu late in October. There will be no Russian journalists at this Conference, but it is understood that many of the Americans who will visit Honolulu propose to gain a deeper insight into Russian Far-Eastern affairs with a view to bringing this situation more clearly before the American public and thereby helping the Washington Conference to reach a sounder settlement of the Far-Eastern Problem than might otherwise be the case.

Peking, Sept. 26.—Officials and numerous popular organisations at Canton are urging the Canton Government to appoint a representative Southern delegation to look after Canton's interests at the Washington Conference, according to a Canton correspondent.

Most of the members of the Canton Government are said to be in favor of sending such a delegation to Washington in time to be present when the Conference there opens, and considerable pressure is being brought to bear upon Sun Yat-sen to make no further delay in appointing Southern delegates.

So far, however, Dr. Sun has stood out against the despatch of a delegation from the South on the ground that his personal representative, Ma Su, is already in the United States and is quite competent to handle Southern interests there.

It is not, accordingly, thought likely that Canton will send further unofficial delegates to the Washington Conference.

SILK —

Was first cultivated in China 4000 years ago.

For centuries have the picturesque sampans, with their costly cargoes of silk slowly made their way down the Yangzte-kiang to the sea.

15 per cent of this Silk is exported to the United States which figure is increasing yearly.

In June the United States consumed 30,877 Bales of Silk.

It is the only manufacturing material that has not shown a decreased consumption in the past year.

The proper handling and financing of these cargoes is an important factor in the development of this trade.

Mr. E. T. Byrne presided, supported by Mr. A. K. Craddock, Mr. A. J. Welch (Directors) and C. J. L. Stewart representing the secretaries.

The Chairman said:

Gentlemen.—It being past the hour at which the Meeting was called I will ask the Secretary to read the Notice calling the Meeting and the Resolution to be confirmed.

As stated in the notice just read, the only business to be transacted today is to confirm the Extraordinary Resolution which was proposed by myself and seconded by Mr. Craddock and adopted and passed by the Shareholders at the Extraordinary Meeting held on 13th instant.

I therefore beg to propose that the said Extraordinary Resolution be now confirmed as a special Resolution.

The proposal is seconded by Mr. Craddock, those in favor of same kindly signify in the usual manner.

The following is the resolution that was unanimously carried:

That in exercise of the power conferred by Clause 5 of the Company's Memorandum of Association, the existing capital of the Company be divided into two classes of Shares, namely 100,000 Preference Shares of Tael 1.00 each and 300,000 Ordinary Shares of Tael 1.00 each, and that the provisions following in regard thereto have effect, that is to say:

(a) The 100,000 Preference Shares aforesaid shall be those shares which are numbered 300,000 to 400,000 inclusive, and such Preference Shares shall be from henceforth numbered 300,000 to 400,000 inclusive.

(b) The said Preference Shares shall carry a fixed cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of 12 percent per annum on the capital paid up thereon and such dividend shall run as from the First day of November 1921 and shall be paid as nearly as may be half yearly on the Thirty-first day of January and Thirty-first day of July.

(c) Such Preference Shares shall only confer a right to vote at general meetings of the Company upon any proposition for the sale of the Company's undertaking or for altering the regulations of the Company, so as directly to interfere with the rights and privileges of the holders, and shall only confer a right to notice of and to attend at General Meetings of the Company where some such proposition is to be submitted.

(d) Such Preference Shares in a winding-up shall rank for re-payment of Capital in priority to all the other shares.

(e) The residue of the existing shares shall be numbered 1 to 300,000 inclusive, and shall be called Ordinary Shares, and, subject as aforesaid, such Ordinary Shares shall confer a right to the surplus profits of the Company which it shall from time to time be determined to distribute by way of dividend, and in a winding-up shall rank for re-payment of capital after the payment off of the capital paid up on the Preference Shares aforesaid.

(f) These provisions, so far as necessary shall take effect by way of alteration of the Articles of Association of the Company.

PEKING-HANKOW LINE

Short Term Bonds

In 1915, the Peking-Hankow Railway has floated a loan amounting to two million and five hundred thousand dollars ($2,500,000) which has been oversubscribed. Interests have been paid and bonds retired punctually.

Subscriptions will be taken place either at the Banks designated below, or at the Accounting Department or the Peking-Hankow Railway.

The regulations governing the issuance of the bonds are as follows:

Art. 6. The term of the bonds is four and half years. Interest for the first six months shall be paid in advance at the time of subscription. $500,000 bonds shall be retired in every six months by drawing, until the total issue shall be retired on March 31, the 15th year of Chinese Republic. The drawing shall be taken place on March 15 and September 15 of every year, supervised by representatives from the Ministry of Communications.

Art. 7. Subscriptions shall be closed at the end of September, the tenth year of Chinese Republic. Subscriptions paid before this date shall receive a monthly interest of 0.8%, to be counted by days, from date of subscription to the end of September which, together with the interest for the first six months (from November 1st, the tenth year of Chinese Republic, to March 31st the eleventh year) shall be deducted from the amount of subscription at the time when payment is made. A JAVA SECRET IN SHANGHAI "BATIK"

For centuries the art of Batik, of painting wonderful designs on silk in unfading and waterproof colours of great beauty, has been a carefully guarded secret in certain families in the Dutch Indies. Greatly in demand in Europe, the process is especially suitable for ladies dresses, cushions, lamp-shades and handkerchiefs.

Recently brought to Shanghai, samples may now be seen by appointment at No. 1, Yu Yuen Road, and at Hall and Holtz, Squires and Ye Gift Shop.

Offered: 1,321,942 lbs. (about 590 tons).

Sold: 1,260,774 lbs. (about 563 tons).

The market has remained rather featureless during the past week. London has shown slight signs of weakness, whereas New York has been steady, and the local market firm with more buyers than sellers.

There was a good demand at today's auction due to "shorts" covering, and very few lots offered for sale were withdrawn.

651 tons were catalogued. 590 tons offered and 563 tons sold.

Standard Sheet and Sheet equal to Standard were in very keen demand, the former quantity advancing 1 cent on the week.

Off Quality Sheet realised good prices.

Awarded Standard First Latex and Crepe equal to Standard were also well in demand, but prices show no change on the week.

Off Color Latex as well as Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes found ready buyers at last week's prices.

N. B.—The above prices for Standard Quality Sheet and Crepe are only paid for small lots at the auctions, whereas bigger quantities in the outside market generally fetch from 1 cent to 1½ above these figures.

The Federal Wireless Contract

By Josef W. Hall

THE most important politico-commercial development which has taken place in the capital for some time is the signing of the Federal Wireless Loan Bonds. Although the Chinese authorities have showed considerable hesitancy, usual delays encountered in negotiations with Chinese officialdom have been cut short under pressure from the Washington Government, and the bonds have been signed by the proper representatives in the offices of the Ministry of Communications.

The interest of the American Government in the Federal Wireless project can be explained by the large bearing which this concession has upon America's China and Pacific policies. Coming directly before the opening of the Washington Conference, the consummation of contract negotiations allowing the actual shipment of materials and beginning of work on the construction has special significance, as Washington intends it to have.

For the Federal Wireless project happens to be a test case of the "Open Door," just before the planned re-enunciation of that policy at the Pacific Conference. This aspect of the scheme is entirely separate and apart and is given its importance by the circumstance that previous commitments of the Chinese government to firms of two other nationalities were interpreted by the foreign offices of these nations in such a way as to close the open door to American enterprise in this particular field. Again, the Federal Wireless project happens to be a scheme providing for trans-oceanic direct communication between America and China under American control and direction at both ends. As such it has a direct bearing upon the communications and cables situation in general, and the Yap controversy in particular.

The American State Department has, in the past, appeared willing to overlook many "closed doors" which American business men in China have found to stand across their path. Its present interest in behalf of the wireless company is not preferential treatment of an individual case. Rather the individual case has the good fortune to be the timely example which the State Department has decided to use to illustrate concretely its position upon certain general principles in China and the Pacific.

No line of reasoning can be made to convince the American government that it should accept as closed to its nationals the opportunity to engage in such an important branch of commercial endeavor as wireless communications. Supposing that China has made commitments to Japan and Great Britain appearing to give the one or the other a monopoly upon such enterprise: There is first the question—raised by China herself—as to whether these commitments really commit. The fact that the Chinese Premier and Minister of Communications have been willing to negotiate with the Americans is sufficient for the State Department. If their action constitutes breach of faith or contract, that is a matter for themselves to settle. If it brings them into difficulties with the protesting Powers they may, so far as America is concerned, find for themselves means of extrication. Since they have entered into agreement with the American company, America will not allow of their backing out.

Secondly, should the American government be convinced that the commitments of the Chinese government to Mitsui Bussan Kaisha and the British Marconi interests actually bind China to prohibit the erection of a competitive plant, it would be inclined to take the attitude that, since these contracts were incompatible with the Open Door policy—the code by which it judges all things Chinese—which policy has been subscribed to by the governments of the contracting firms, the contracts were, in themselves, illegitimate. Here, apparently, America holds the advantage over the protesting Powers.

The British and Japanese Legations, aware of their disadvantage, and realising the determination in this instance of Uncle Sam have ceased to send notes regarding the matter to the American Legation. They have not, however, ceased their pressure upon the Chinese, and it is not unnatural that they should be willing to permit the Chinese to "get away" with what, in their light, is a breach of faith.

In these circumstances it has been necessary for America, determined for her Pacific Policy's sake that the Federal Wireless deal shall go through, to put occasional stiffening into the backs of the high Chinese officials. How this has been done is not so pertinent as the fact that it has been successfully done. Suffice it to say that, in view of imminent developments in Washington, China is not in a position to offend America. Between the determination of the Americans on the one hand, and the insistence of the British and Japanese on the other, it would appear that the Chinese have got themselves in a bad way. The two Powers maintain that China's failure to exclude further wireless enterprise will bring financial ruin to the prior enterprises of their nationals. In reality, however, it is well understood by all concerned that the eventual settlement must be a compromise between these companies and the Chinese Ministry of Communications, involving the granting to them of some added concession or other by way of consolation.

America's attitude in the Wireless case constitutes the prying open of a closed door which might soon have been locked. Manifested at this time, it may be construed as a warning that unless some definite basis of co-operation for the development of China and the abolition of monopolies and "spheres" of all kinds is agreed upon in the coming Conference, America will not hesitate to continue her disconcerting but effective method of prying open doors which she may find to block her path.

The second, the communications aspect, of the Federal Wireless affair, is equally pertinent. America's action in the matter illustrates the truth that no great nation will submit to the monopoly of communications between itself and other politically and commercially important portions of the earth by other Powers, regardless of concessions, commitments, or other "scraps of paper." In the matter of communications between America and China, Japan had things sewed up altogether too tightly. It was inevitable that America should burst the bag she had thrown around both cable and wireless facilities.

Japan, in the Mitsui contract, apparently obtained the sole rights to erect and operate commercial long-distance wireless plants in China. It is stipulated in an addenda of the Mitsui contract, made with the Ministry of Navy, not the Ministry of Communications, that China shall not participate in nor permit the erection of any long-distance wireless plant which would competitively injure the Mitsui plant, now nearing completion at Tungchow, a suburb of Peking.

The priority claims of the British Marconi company are very much smaller in importance than the monopoly claims of the Mitsui people. There is dispute between the Chinese and Japanese as to the standing of the "postscript" containing this "monopoly clause," and there are said to exist, also, three separate versions of the contract itself. However that may be, America, under her treaties with China, is determined that no monopoly clause shall be allowed to come as near to placing her wireless communications with China and the continent of Asia in the hands of the Japanese as the League of Nations' mandate has come to placing her cable communications in the same hands.

There is considerable feeling among Americans in China to the effect that the State Department would do well to make public the terms of and progress in carrying out of the Federal Wireless Contract. The writer is led to believe that the American government appreciates that the publicity connected with the contract is of as much value as its execution, in the furtherance of American aims. Out of sympathy for the Chinese administration, which finds itself in a rather straight pass, it is, however, maintaining as much secrecy as possible in the matter.

Japan Would Vie With England On The Sea

The Japanese Mind As Revealed In a Text-Book

BY ANNA M. BILLS
(University Of Nantung)

I recall seeing some years ago a cartoon which represented a very small ragged urchin standing in front of a poster which announced that men were wanted for the United States Navy. "Gee," remarked the small boy, "I wish Ma would let me go."

A Japanese text-book of English entitled "The World's Higher English" by H. Saito reminded me of the cartoon. The title is not strikingly modest. The illustrations used and the bits of catechism given for practice in conversation reveal further the complete absence of that humility of spirit which the Japanese know how to assume when politic.

Mr. Saito knows well how to make education an indirect means of propaganda. Throughout the book beliefs and ideals which the old Japanese militarist wishes to inculcate come constantly to the fore, often in very bald fashion.

The statements bearing on the relationship of England and Japan are both interesting and illuminating. One set might be grouped under the familiar axiom "Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other." We hope the English will appreciate the temporary equality which they are granted. Note the word "temporary." Here are some of the statements:

"If Japan is the 'England of the East' there is no reason why one should not call England the 'Japan of the West.'"

"You may as well call England the 'Japan of the West' as call Japan the 'England of the East.'"

"Japan is in the East what England is in the West."

"Japan is in Asia what England is in Europe."

"The England of the Far East is true to her name."

We hope that England realises the compliment that is bestowed upon her in dubbing her the 'Japan of the West.' But let her not become conceited. The next step in advance taken by the Japanese mind is as follows:

"Is Japan likely to become a great naval power? Japan is a naval power now. The time may come when she will vie with England herself on the sea." (The italics are ours.)

"Japan has a bright future before her. She carries the world before her. What is it that makes her ever victorious? It is that Yamato spirit which chooses death before dishonor."

In the Japanese mind the superiority of the Japanese over other Oriental races is so clear that there really ought to be a reclassification of the races. Here is a bit of catechism:

"You Japanese are not Orientals in the strict sense of the word."

"No, we have more in common with the Occidentals than with the other Orientals."

"How do you manage to keep pace with the times?"

"Our study of English keeps us in touch with Europe."

"How do the Japanese differ from the other Oriental peoples?"

"The Japanese are an adaptable people."

The distinction which there used to be in olden times between the Greek and the barbarian now exists between the Japanese and the rest of the world, the Japanese having become the 'custodians of culture:

"Are there any illiterate people in Japan?"

"No, there are very few Japanese who cannot read or write."

"Are there any illiterate people in foreign countries?"

"Yes, there are many foreigners who cannot even sign their names."

"Wouldn't you like to go abroad?"

"No, I don't care to go abroad."

"Why don't you care to go abroad?"

I wouldn't mind going anywhere if there were anything new to be learned." (The italics are ours.)

"Do many Chinese students come to Japan?"

"Yes, great numbers of them come over to study."

"Does it do them much good to stay here?"

"It must do them a world of good."

It is not in education alone that Japan is ahead of the rest of us. Her home life is better than that of the Occidental:

"The relation between parent and child does not seem to be so intimate in Japan as it is with foreigners?"

"We don't kiss and hug in public as they do."

"Is it true that there is no Japanese word corresponding to love?"

"Yes, we have—and it is all the deeper because it runs still."

"In foreign countries it does not lie upon the son to provide for his aged father."

A few other humble remarks about the Japanese are as follows:

"The Japanese are thoroughbreds in their professions."

"The Japanese are the bravest people on earth."

"Yes, every Japanese has something of the poet in him."

"Are Japanese soldiers brave?"

"Braver soldiers never shouldered rifles."

"Do Japanese make good sailors?"

"Better sailors never manned a ship."

The last quotation reminds us again that the military ideal is never lost sight of for many pages at a time:

"There is not a boy in Japan, but, let him have his own way, and he shall enter the army or navy."

"Japan is both a military and a naval power."

"Japan is one of the greatest naval powers."

"What can you say for the Japanese navy?"

"It has been put to the severest practical test of war, and stood the test."

But Oliver Twist isn't the only one who ever wanted more. Here comes a disappointing thought.

"They have many more warships than we?"

"Yes, they have twice as many ships as we have."

In the book Japan and England loom so big on the horizon that we are hardly conscious of the existence of the United States. But here is a bit that makes some of us thankful that we were discriminating enough to demand Chinese tea even in the United States:

"Where is Japanese tea exported?"

"It is much sought after in America."

"Isn't it the coarsest kind of tea that is exported?"

"Yes, but bancha is tea after all."

We are told that "Japan is the best country in the world" and the "Japanese the most patriotic of all peoples"; and again in another place that "Japan is the only country worth living in." We wonder a little at Japanese nationals being so anxious to take up their abode in other lands until we find the quotation from the Bible "Every place whereon the soles of your feet shall tread shall be yours." The Japanese are the chosen people of today, and their promised land is the world.

The dream of world empire dies hard.

FIVE PROBLEMS OF MARRIAGE

I wonder what Mr. Jiggs' idea is about that most absorbing of all subjects "Matrimony?" He is evidently a very much married individual, and is always devising some scheme or other whereby he can get away for some hours or so from the lady whom he promised faithfully to cherish, and to endow with all his worldly goods.

"Punch" once published its considered judgment upon the subject when the famous English weekly gave its advice to those about to marry—don't.

Some idealist or other, probably it was a young fellow in love with "the most beautiful girl in the world," wrote that "Marriages are made in Heaven." More probably it was an experienced married man who replied that "many of them evidently took the wrong turning on the way down."

But I have before me a nicely tabulated form headed "Five Problems of Marriage, answered by 100 men and 100 women." I think it comes from The World Magazine, but I am not sure of this. Anyhow the answers are most instructive to those who are already in the state of cherishing and obeying themselves, and those who in singleness are thinking of changing their present loneliness by taking to themselves someone who will take care of all that is coming to them at the end of the month.

PROBLEM NUMBER ONE

When shall a man marry?

a.—When he falls in love, no financial basis involved.

Mere man replies with 3 answers. Someone's daughter contributes 5. No comment.

b.—When he has a permanent position with good prospects. Males 38. Females 39.

Fancy such a large percentage of lovers being so mercenary!

c.—Not until he earns the minimum salary needed for marriage. 17 of the former and 22.

But the 22 maids don't know what the minimum is, and never will.

d.—The minimum salary and some savings besides. 19 of the sterner sex agree and 26 of the gentler acquiesce. The 26 surely put the accent on SOME SAVINGS.

e.—Not until he is fully able to support a wife. 23 versus 8.

Here the 8 ladies are crazy, and the 23 optimistic. Can you tell me who has ever yet been able fully to support a wife?

PROBLEM NUMBER TWO

How Should An Income Be Divided? (That is the question.—Hamlet.)

a.—Wife to ask husband for money when she wants it. 6 of us against O. (Te he!)

b.—Wife to receive pay envelope untouched. 5-5.

I don't believe it. I don't believe there are so many crazy men in the world.

c.—50-50, after household expenses have been paid. 12 men for, and 23 women.

There must be something wrong in the count here.

PROBLEM NUMBER THREE

Shall a wife work after marriage?

a.—If she desires to do so. 10 against 34. Splendid fellows! Nice girls!

b.—Only for first year. 37 of us, and 20 of them. 37 plus 20 have expectations.

c.—No, not under any conditions. 58 fine fellows and 18 helpmeets. 58 WONDERFUL MEN. (And very much in love.)

PROBLEM NUMBER FOUR

Should Parents Assist?

a.—No, not under any conditions. 72 of the best and 76 girls with parents whose only hope in life is to see their daughters "happily married." The 72 are merely silly.

b.—Yes, if they can spare the money. 12 versus 9.

That means that there are at least 21 folk in the world who know how easy and pleasant it is to get money from home.

(Locally a limited census has been taken, and the result is 100 men for—100 maids FOR SURE!)

PROBLEM NUMBER FIVE

Where Shall We Live?

a.—In the city. 6 men affirm, and the same number of girls.

Probably keen on the stars that amuse.

b.—In the suburbs. 94 and 94.

Probably keen on the stars that twinkle.

All this is very instructive. But the same question asked after a couple of years of married life resulted in the last two questions being answered differently. 100 percent of the men were perfectly ready to live in the suburbs, if their wives lived in the city, and the same hundred percent did not care a bean if they had to live in the city, if their wives lived in the suburbs.

Three Old Conflicts Of The Race

BY DR. CHARLES FLEISCHER

There are three very old conflicts in which the human race has engaged—literally—from time immemorial.

And the oldest and hardest of these is the conflict between Youth and Age.

It may be that the strife between sex and sex is quite as ancient, seeing that there were always male and female—ever since Man was at all Male and female created He them!

Certainly the clash between class and class is not nearly so old as those other two types of ancient causes of conflict.

Nor is class consciousness as recent as most militant economists of the organised labor elements seem to think. For it would appear that early Roman history is a continuous record of that struggle. And it may be that the Israelitish exodus from Egypt (whatever there was of it) was also due to a similar clash.

Whether communism or socialism ever arrives at embodied ideality, each of them is creditable to the race, as at least the expression of our aspirations toward cooperative harmony and social peace.

At any rate, it would seem to be no vain dream (what think you?) that the spirit of justice and the enlightened self-interest of all the elements involved will work toward such approach to a solution of the economic problem as at least to minimise—if not entirely to eradicate—the Struggle between class and class.

Even the strife of sex and sex, natural as that is, is at last confronted by a challenging influence, which, by virtue of its being spiritual, gives promise of probable conquest of that seemingly insurmountable physical Fact.

Not that we shall ever cease to be male and female. Let no shrieking or stentorian anti-feminist fear that we shall ever actually become unsexed or one-sexed!

The challenging, conquering, spiritual influence which is to kill or, at least, cripple the sex conflict is Democracy.

To the compelling spiritual might of Democracy, not sex consciousness but sex antagonism must yield.

No longer, in our democratic day, is it proof positive of prenatal cleverness to have managed to be born male, nor is the therefore unclever female doomed to be forever subject as subordinate to the one-time lordly male.

Sometime, when the democratic day has come full moon, the masterful male and the shrinking female will severally give way to the joint, co-operating sway of Man and Woman, each superlatively Human.

But the primeval conflict between Youth and Age—will that ever be laid?

The two are almost equally at fault. They are nearly equally egotistic.

Age seems to think it has attained, through mere length of life. Though any one may grow old; and age surely does not necessarily spell wisdom!

On the other hand, Youth commonly appears to think it has arrived—merely by coming later on the scene and, therefore, knowing more and better. Folly, wide of the mark!

Youth and Age are mutually jealous and they feel mutually superior. If, for instance, honor of parents has diminished, respect for children is not yet what it should be.

In general, the mutual regard of Youth and Age is far below the demand of the democratic standard.

But here, too, Democracy can speak its word of confident hope. For Democracy is to be the world's effective teacher of Mutual Respect.

Duly, Age will learn to grant Youth's heritage, and Youth will learn to reverence Age and its achievements. Instead of contrasting their qualities, attainments and defects, they will recognise each other as mutually compensatory, to complete and carry forward the serial story called Life.

Youth responsibly revelling in continuous opportunity; Age, knowing itself as childhood, come to larger growth; they will learn to love and respect each other as co-operators toward achieving common good and infinite progress.

TEXACO ROOFING
the Asphaltic Roofing
If interested in a practical roofing you should know more about the Texaco kind—it is a durable, economical, proof against every kind of weather and easy to apply.
Texaco Roofing is a composition of asphalt with an all-rag felt base. Use it on any kind of structure you may possess. There are four weights—a weight suited to every requirement from factory to residence.
Texaco Roofing resists the action of chemical fumes, gas and smoke as well as rain, fog, sleet and any other form of moisture. That's why it is so economical to use. Texaco Roofing is fire resisting and, due to a special tempering process, proof against weather change. It will not melt in hot weather nor will extremely low temperatures cause it to crack.

The breezes are diverging from that moderate anticyclone, to revolve in spires round the low areas. Very fine day in our Valley and in Formosa; overcast in S. China and at the Philippines; some fog in Shantung.

29.—The weather becomes overcast and milder. The pressure is slowly decreasing. Light N.W. breezes unsteady.
